

What If

What if we share the gender in love?
What if those touches feel so enormous as I have!
What if we do not abide by society 's rules!
What if we ain't let anyone scroll down on us?
Does it change the feel of love!
Or swallows the completeness we desire to have?
What if our love doesn't care about the dominance linkered society;
What if it's not even bothered to witness its trusty!
What if it predicts a new change in our destiny?
With its solemn desire not vulnerable enough to destroy.
Are you powerful enough to mess it up with a regular one!
Or to resist it with a destined fashion!
If so you're a trespasser only left to be burnt with your desire;
Not the blessed one to warm your hand on this mystic fire.

_ Rupanjali Saha